ACCOUNTABILITY

The Island County Sheriff's Office Citizen Volunteers, in cooperation with Island Senior Resources, have set up a program to assist members of our community who may have found themselves isolated as a result of the Covid 19 pandemic.

This short-term program is designed for vulnerable Island County residents who would benefit from a daily welfare check phone call during this pandemic.

This program is sponsored by the Island County Sheriff's Office and carried out by the Island County Sheriff's Citizen Volunteers

This program is for Island County residents only.

The program is currently set to only last for the duration of the State of Washington Stay at Home Order.

How the program works:

Once you have signed up, a volunteer will call you once daily between 9:00 and 10:00 am just to check in with you. If you don't answer, the volunteer will call again within about 15 minutes. If there is no answer on the second call, a Deputy Sheriff will be dispatched to your address to check on your wellbeing.

If you, a friend or loved one would benefit from this service, please phone the following number to enroll. A volunteer will ask a few questions that will provide us with enough information to serve you. The questions will only be related to your address and emergency contact information. You may provide general medical concerns that may be relevant to first responders if you choose. We look forward to serving you.
